SUFFRAGETTES FAIL TO VISIT EDGERTON

Crowds of Edgerton People Are Disappointed When Auto Party Fails to Appear—Other News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Aug. 12.—The streets of Edgerton were lined with people last night awaiting the arrival of the suffrage auto party, due here at 7:30. Waiting until about 9:30 with long stretched necks the curiosity seekers were doomed to disappointment, the suffrage party failing to make their appearance. No message has been received as yet as to why and wherefore the party failed to come and the people are still in the dark as to their whereabouts. That the party were at Milton the day before is true, but so near by and no appearance here is of wonderment. So far as can be ascertained the party returned to Milwaukee from whence it came.

Personal News.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ellis of Rockford are here on a visit with his parents in Fulton township.

Members of the Home Missionary Army church of Davenport, Iowa, invaded Edgerton a day or two this week. They met with poor success.

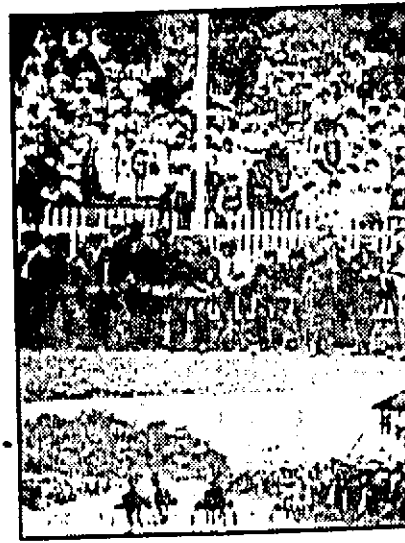

Miss Minnie Krehling of Fort Atkinson, having been here since last winter, has taken her departure, going first to Rockford to visit relatives before going to her home in Jefferson county.

Miss Della Shanneway, after spending several days here with Edgerton friends, has returned to her home county home in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Schmeling and children left last night for Seymour to spend a few weeks on their farm located in that vicinity.

AUGUST 22 DATE OF GROCERS' PICNIC

The Annual Picnic of the Janesville Merchants Will Take Place at Yost's Park; Good Time Expected.

Following the custom which they have observed for number of years past the grocers of Janesville will hold an annual picnic this year, the date for the event being set at August 22, or a week from Tuesday. As usual the picnic will be held at Yost's Park, and will last the whole day, the crowd leaving on the interurban cars at nine o'clock. As yet, the committee which has had its hands full for it consisted of only two members, Walter Taylor and Ed Winslow. However, on Monday next these two gentlemen will meet with Mr. Yost and Mr. Schooley of the Interurban company, and will complete the final arrangements.

Plan for Success.

In order that the picnic may be as great a success as possible, an effort will be made to follow the precedent set last year, and close, not alone the grocery stores, but all the stores as well. There will be many entertainments for the large crowd which is expected at the picnic, and a number of prizes have been hung up for the contests. There will be two ball games, one of them between the east and west side clerks and proprietors. A good hot game will be the result of this meeting of old rivals. Besides the ball games, all such events as three legged races, pig races, swimming races, dashes, high kicking contests, and guessing contests will take place. Those who have attended these picnics in the past have had a great time, and this year's event will be second to none of the others, so a good turnout is expected.

FROSTS PREDICTED FOR LATE IN MONTH

Foster's Weather Bureau in Forecast for Remainder of Month Promises Early Frosts.

Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent August 15 to 19, warm wave 14 to 18, cool wave 17 to 21. This will have the most force west of meridian 90 and will decline as it progresses eastward. Its temperatures will average lower than usual and rainfall will be light. Altogether this disturbance will be of little importance.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about August 19, cross Pacific slope by close of 20, great central valleys 21 to 23, eastern sections 24. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about August 19, great central valleys 21 to 23, eastern sections 24.

In the accompanying cut engine 577 is shown stripped of its jacket and in the sketches which lies beneath to permit a careful examination to be made. An inspection of this nature is required on every engine once in five years to insure safety from any explosion that might result from defective stay bolts beneath the cover- ing of the boiler.

This is the first engine inspected in this manner at any of the outside shops and much more work of this nature kind is expected here in the future under the provisions of the new federal law relating to boiler inspection which became effective July 1.

was covered by about fifteen feet of water after the heavy rain which visited this section on Thursday night. The floods have subsided gradually and the work of repairing the damage is being pushed with great energy in order to have the trains running again on schedule time. Similar trouble of a much less severe nature has been experienced in other sections of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin which has been responsible to some extent for many of the trains being late during the last few days.

Temperature Records.

We already have good records for most of the country lying east of the plains states. In many parts of Europe good records of temperatures and rainfall have been kept for nearly a hundred years. Canada has some good records that have been laid away, neglected, dust covered. Any vicinity that has even a good record is more fortunate than if it had a gold mine. It is known that good and long records of daily temperatures and rainfall are the most valuable property a country can possess and this will soon be demonstrated to the satisfaction of all.

Meteorological Records.

All meteorological records should be based on effects that is, rainfall, temperatures, wind force, etc. But a record of anything that may occur on the sun or on any parts of the planets or of reference to the distant stars can be of no utility on earth. The record made on our earth by any outside influence is valuable because we must know the future by a past.

everything to do with effecting what is desired."

It is said of human machinery which runs at high speed that it needs rest as much as it needs care and attention. The big modern engine cools its heels in the stall at the round-house after a day's run, and the little engine which pulls the automobile over country roads at railway speed complains when overtaken.

There is a limit to endurance in the mechanical world, and machinery is constantly undergoing repair because this limit is not recognized. What is true of machinery is true in a larger sense of the delicate mechanism of the human body, for while it is equipped in normal condition to run smoothly through the long journey of three score and ten, the roadway is lined with dangers, and the last lap of the course is strewn with wreckage.

Much has been written about why men fall in business, yet but little is said about why people fall in health. The problems of life are so absorbing and the drama so full of interest, that but little thought is given to the actors on the busy stage, and when people drop out of the race in middle life, as the result of slow poisoning, the vacancy is soon filled, and the play goes on.

Someone took a census of a street in Janesville, a time ago, and discovered that there were twenty-seven widows on a single street. Their husbands had passed on from ten to twenty years before their allotted time. These conditions prevail, to large extent, throughout the country, and the reason why is not difficult to discover.

The life of the wife and mother is a hum-drum life, and so full of monotony that it frequently becomes tedious. Darning the same old garment and sweeping the same old carpets, hummed in by four familiar walks in the same old house, caring for the children patiently, and greeting the husband with a pleasant smile, is the daily routine through the active years, and after the children have left the nest, the same monotony with a loneliness added.

Then it is that the wife turns to the man whom she has cherished and obeyed through all the years, for companionship, to find that he is all ready for the grave and glory, and so she is left to trudge along alone.

Why so many women are left to complete the journey alone, is not difficult to understand. The girl brings to the home as a bride the innocence of girlhood. She possesses a pure heart, a clean mind and a body free from abuse and dissipation.

This is rarely true of the man who marries, for too frequently happens that liberty has been transformed to lechery, and the crop of wild oats so generously cultivated has left the stony of disease in both mind and body, and the penalty demanded of time is ten years from the calendar.

The life of the wife and mother, while monotonous, is a normal life, and does not tend to shorten existence under normal conditions. The husband, as the bread-winner of the family and if he approaches the responsibility he is rarely free from care.

Every decade brings its changes in business methods, and as men are crowded out of old positions through competition or improved machinery the responsibility of caring for the home comes to the head of the household with new and grave significance. If he is a wage-earner and enforced idleness stares him in the face, the little circle of loved ones never seemed more dear or more helpless, and worry comes to contribute to his misfortunes.

If in business for himself and fails or overtakes him, his first thought is for the home and what the loss of income will mean to the wife who may never have given it a thought.

These are experiences, common to the lot of humanity, which make men prematurely old, and it sometimes happens that the wife contributes to the catastrophe by being a job's comforter at the one time in her experience when she might have taken command of the ship for a day or two, and inspired the captain with new hope and courage.

But the men who die prematurely are not as a rule the men who fall in business, nor the men who find time to rest through enforced idleness. The men who drop out from ten to twenty years before their time are from the active ranks. Men who have never discovered that there is a limit to human endurance, and so while the body pretends to rest, the brain keeps the mind active and rest is only a burlesque.

Warning signals are flashed at every corner but to no purpose, and advice falls on deaf ears. The man will only learn by experience, and when he drops out by the way there is never much satisfaction in saying, "I told you so."

The winter resorts of the South and West are thronged with men who have been sidetracked in the prime of life because they paid no attention to the laws of health. Many of them have an abundance of money, but money without the ability to enjoy it is of but little value.

It pays to take time to live, and the people who get the most out of life are the people who make this discovery early in the journey.

so fulfill the law of Christ. For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself.

But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another.

For every man shall bear his own burden.

Let him that is taught in the word communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things.

Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever man soweth, that shall he also reap.

For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.

And let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap if we faint not.

By WALT MASON.

The way I kept when I was young; My nerves were never their master; I was asleep before my head had fairly touched my downy bed, and then I snored a cheerful snore.

SLEEP OF CHILDHOOD seconds long. At morning father climbed the stairs and fondled me with clubs and whisks, and pulled me from my humble bed; and then he stood on my head, and rolled me around upon the floor until I ceased to sleep and snore. And now that I am old and sore, the night seems longer than a year. I go to roost and kick and toss, but slumber will not come across, or if it comes I have such dreams I rouse the neighbors with my screams. How often have I walked the floor, and envied youths who calmly snore! How often fallen over chairs, and tumbled down the cellar stairs! How often have I stubbed my toes, and larked my shins and bumped my nose, while roaming in the midnight gloom about my sleepless sleeping room! How happy are the drowsy boys! Of all the boys that youth enjoys, this trick of climbing into bed and sleeping like the fatted calf in best and best, and old, tired men can never have it back again.

DISHONEST YOUNG MEN.

An Iowa dealer in agricultural implements tells me this:

He has known the sons of wealthy farmers who, before they are twenty-one years of age, will buy heavily on the strength of their prospects. Then before they come of age they will take the benefit of the bankrupt law.

You see—

Having wiped the slate clear of indebtedness, they come into possession of their share of the estate. To do this they run the risk of a penitentiary sentence.

And this man says these young men regard this sort of procedure as something peculiarly "smart."

Let's see.

At the most they have gained a few hundred dollars' worth of stuff. They have lost what is infinitely greater. Put the equation thus:

Woe—a few paltry dollars.

Loss—credit, reputation, character, self respect.

In a purely business sense the loss of credit is a great one. There may come a time when the extension of a credit favor may amount to many times the sum these young men have won by their low trickery.

However much money a man may have or how little, credit must be the foundation stone upon which he builds successful business.

Credit is more than capital. It is the business man's chief asset.

Nowadays business men know very well the commercial history of those with whom they deal.

These young men lose not only credit, but reputation. The community will never forget their lapse from honesty. Half a lifetime of uprightness will not blot out the shameful record of their boyish crookedness.

But—

Most all of these young men lose the chief asset of their personality—character. Loss of self respect will follow sooner or later, but the great loss is of character.

They are modern Esau.

They have sold their birthright of honor for a mess of pottage.

What shall it profit a young man if he gains a little money by mean maneuvers and loses his own soul?

Young men—

To say nothing whatever of morals or of righteousness, to put the whole matter on a selfish footing—

It pays to be decent!

Complete.

ANOTHER HOTEL TO BE RECONSTRUCTED ON MILWAUKEE ST.

JOHN W. PETERS WILL REMODEL HIS NEWLY PURCHASED BLOCK AT ONCE.

PLANS BEING PREPARED

Alterations Will Cost in Neighborhood of Forty Thousand Dollars—Will Be Modern and First-Class Structure.

By the first of September it is expected that actual work of reconstruction of the property at 113, 115 and 117 East Milwaukee street, recently purchased by John W. Peters frontage of 140 feet on the bridge and some thirty to a hundred feet floor space, extending up the river.

In order to build the proposed building Mr. Jackson will have to secure the riparian rights of the Merrill estate, which adjoins his property on North Main street. The building would be constructed on cement piles, which would be twenty to thirty feet apart.

PUTTING UP TOWER AT BLODGETT MILL

Work on Elevated Tank to Hold Extra Water Supplies for Sprinkler System Has Been Commenced.

Work has been commenced and will be completed within two weeks on the erection of a tower and tank to be used for holding the extra water supplies for the sprinkler system which has been installed at the of the firm of Hayes Bros. and Peters, into a modern and up-to-date, first-class hotel will have started. It is estimated that when completed the structure will represent the outlay of nearly a hundred thousand dollars.

Plans for the remodeling of the building are now being drawn by Architect Gustafson of Chicago and will be in Mr. Peters' hands some time during the coming week, when details of the plan will be made for the remodeling. Mr. Gustafson has been in Janesville for several days this week going over the building thoroughly and learning the desires of Mr. Peters.

The tentative plans include a complete change of the entire three-story front. There will be a handsome office, a buffet and the hotel dining room, on the first floor with the kitchen in the rear, and good sized sample rooms for commercial travelers. The second and third floors will have ladies' parlors and in the neighborhood of fifty rooms with private baths. There will also be rooms with baths on the fourth and fifth floors as well as general toilet rooms.

The building, when completed, will have one hundred and fifty rooms, equipped with modern furniture, reception rooms and buffet. It is not enough to say that the building will be a modern structure, an addition will be built in the rear where the kitchen and laundry will be located, as well as bedrooms up on the upper floors.

In speaking of the matter this afternoon, Mr. Peters said: "My plans are not all complete as yet. I am waiting to hear from my architect, Mr. Gustafson, but will decide within a few days just what we will do this fall. The remodeling of the building will be one of the best and first-class hotels in the state. Every modern convenience will be installed and it will be ready for occupancy about January 1, 1912."

"For the present I shall not build the contemplated wing in the rear which would front on Third street, where Gardner's blacksmith shop now is, but may make this addition next year. I prefer not to say who will be manager of the hotel as I have had several very tempting offers from first-class hotel men here and elsewhere. The hotel will be arranged with regard to light and sanitary conditions and handiwork finished."

"We have not decided upon the interior finishing, but all will be in harmony to the plans for reconstruction. We have talked of having the office, buffet and dining room on the first floor and the plans are being drawn with this in view. The structure will have cost in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand dollars when finally completed, exclusive of the furnishings."

Anticipating the remodeling plans, H. S. Johnson has planned to remove his grocery from the building by September 15th, and has leased the present store, occupied by the United States Express Company in the Ryan property, several doors west. The other two stores to be moved, Kronitz Bros. and the American House have as yet made no plans for removal.

C. S. Jackson is contemplating a new building adjacent to his property on the Milwaukee street bridge. An architect and cement construction expert visited Janesville yesterday, looking over the situation and will draw plans and make estimates of the cost. The building to be constructed will be one story high, of cement, steel and brick construction and will have a plant of the Blodgett Milling company. A tank eighteen feet in diameter and eighteen feet in height with a capacity of thirty thousand gallons of water will be placed on the tower to be used in case of the failure of the city water pressure for the sprinkler system. The tower on which the tank will be placed will be one hundred feet above the surface and will furnish a gravity pressure of about seventy pounds per square foot. It is estimated. It consists of a framework of steel girders with a base about twenty-eight feet square. The base on which the girders rest is of concrete. Mr. Johnson, foreman employed by the Chicago company which has the work, and who has directed the work of placing the auxiliary supply tanks about the city, is directing the work.

SERVE NOTICE ON PROPERTY OWNERS

Notices Ordering Discontinuance of Dumping Rubbish in River Served by Chief Appleby Today.

Notices were served today by Chief of Police George Appleby on forty-three owners or tenants of property along or adjacent on Rock River to improve the health conditions along the river, to cease using the river as a sewer for all sorts of refuse and garbage and to remove the debris on the banks. It was planned to serve these notices on Thursday or Friday, but the signature of Mayor John C. Nichols was required on each notice and this could not be gained until last night, the mayor being out of the city on a business trip.

ASPHALT MACADAM TO BE REPAIRED

Contractor Who Laid Paving on Streets in Third Ward Was Here to Confer with City Officials.

A. E. Rutledge of Rockford, the contractor who did the asphalt macadam paving work on Jackson, Wisconsin and East streets was in the city yesterday conferring with City Engineer C. V. Kerch and City Attorney H. L. Maxfield with regard to repairs to be made to the work done on these streets and will meet with the company who furnished the asphalt in Chicago on Monday. The streets were paved about a year ago. The quality of the asphalt, however, was apparently not up to specifications or the work was done wrong for since then the streets have become bad pieces of road and are in need of repair. The defects in the work was called to the attention of the contractor and the asphalt company, but both delayed in doing anything and the matter was turned over to the city attorney to handle them up. Mr. Rutledge will meet with the asphalt men Monday and the probabilities are that repairs will be made on Jackson street from Milwaukee avenue to South Third street, on East street from St. Lawrence avenue to South Third, and on Wisconsin street from South Second street to South Third street.

ENJOYABLE PICNIC HELD ON THURSDAY

Summer Club of Household Economics Spent the Day at Avalon

This Week.

On Thursday last the third picnic for the present season of the Summer Club of Household Economics was held at the residence of Mrs. Dean at Avalon. A large canopy was stretched over the lawn where the ladies of the Emerald Grove church, furnished a sumptuous dinner to about 150.

Four young ladies who are touring the state in an auto in behalf of the suffrage movement were present, the meeting was called to order at 1:30, by Vice President, Mrs. A. M. Glenn. The ladies were given an hour and a half to tell of their work. They were fine speakers and presented their business in a lady like, logical manner, which was enjoyed by all. A short intermission was declared until 3:30, while the ladies partook of tea and cake, and discussed "women's rights," etc., etc.

The visiting ladies then departed and the general order of business was taken up. Six new members were voted into the club, which now numbers over 300.

Miss Eleanor King gave a short, but interesting talk on her trip to Chicago Commons, to bring out the fresh air children last week. The helpful suggestions were responded to by so many ladies, many of them giving two or three that it proved the most helpful and interesting topic for the day.

The ladies returned on the 6:30 train and the visiting ladies all were a royal entertainer and the meeting one of the best of the Summer Club.

The seven great highways contemplated in the bill will have one terminus in Washington. The other extremities proposed are Portland, Me.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Seattle, Wash.; San Francisco, Cal.; San Diego, Cal.; Austin, Tex.; and Miami, Fla. It is proposed that they be called respectively: The Washington National highway, The Roosevelt National highway, The Lincoln National highway, The Grant National highway, The Monroe National highway and the Lee National highway.

It is estimated that the cost of the proposed highways would not exceed $148,000,000.

STANDARD MUST FACE TRIAL

Indictments for Rebates Held Good by United States Court.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Judge John H. Hazel in United States district court held that the Standard Oil company must stand trial at the next regular term on an indictment of 143 counts, charging acceptance of rebates from the Pennsylvania Railroad company and the New York Central Railroad company on shipments of petroleum from Olean, N. ## GROCERS TO PICNIC

Janesville Grocers Go To Yosts Park Tuesday, Aug. 22.

It will be a gala day when the grocers of this city join together for a good time. It is expected this year that all retail stores in the city will close at noon as they did a year ago. The various committees have been working for some time and everything tends to show now that the coming picnic will be the largest and best ever held. The newly organized Grocers' City fund has been obtained and it is thought that there will be a picnic on the downtown streets in the morning. The committees will announce their various plans later.

ON LONG AUTO TOUR TO PACIFIC COAST

MR. AND MRS. INMAN LEAVE JANESVILLE ON MONDAY ON WESTWARD JOURNEY.

TRIP OF 3,800 MILES

First Janesville People To Make Such A Tour Will Visit Many Western Cities of Interest On Way To California Ports.

Until comparatively recent years a trip to the coast or middle states to the Golden Gate by means of any other conveyance than the railway train involved unusual endurance and nerve on the part of the person undertaking it and several months for its accomplishment. That such a trip at the present time has few terrors for the owner of a trusty automobile is proven by the increasing number of tourists who make that journey.

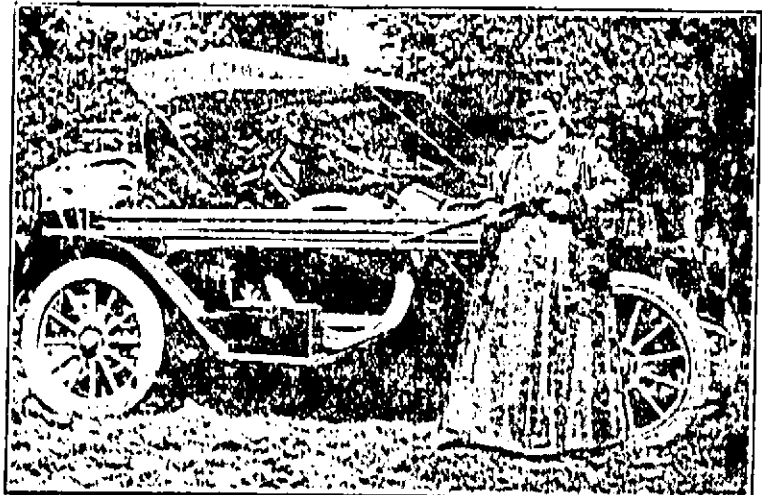

Probably the first person from this section of the state and the first from plains with teams and private schedules.

Through Many Points.

From this city to Newport Heights where Mr. and Mrs. Inman expect to make their home in the future is a distance of about 2,800 miles in a direct line. Over the course which they expect to follow the distance will be between 3,700 and 3,800 miles. After striking the transcontinental auto road at Sterling, Illinois, they will proceed westward and the following are some of the more important places through which they will pass: Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Omaha, Nebraska; Cheyenne, Wyoming; Ogden, Utah; Reno, Nevada; Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Long Beach, California. Mr. and Mrs. Inman have shipped their household goods by freight to Newport Heights, where they intend to make their home and they will take with them only a small trunk and suit case in which to carry clothing and other things necessary during the trip. The complete outfit, car and all will weigh about 12,000 pounds and the powered engine with which the car is fitted will have no trouble in carrying its weight at a good rate of speed over the entire distance.

There are many in this city who feel like enviously this couple the opportunity they will have for a most delightful and interesting trip.

EQUIPPED FOR THE ROAD.

the city of Janesville to make this journey across prairie, over mountains and through the sandy deserts to the shore of the Pacific are Mr. and Mrs. J. Inman who start on their westward trip on Monday morning. All the equipment for the trip is now in readiness and need only to be shipped on the auto.

Equipment Necessary.
This equipment consists of a tent 14x16 feet, two folding cots, an alcohol stove and complete cooking outfit and all the other minor utensils necessary for camp life for about one month. That length of time is expected to be consumed in the journey and it will be like one long holiday where they can have a new place each night to pitch tent.

That there will be endless variety and fascination for these travelers is easy to be imagined by those who have made the trip across through the same sections of the country in the past. Through the mountains especially the charm of camp life will be very attractive. No one can clearly understand what pleasures this offers unless he has passed through mountainous

ELECTRICAL TRUST TO QUIT

Will Enter Judgment of Dissolution in Federal Court.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Attorney General Wickersham has been notified that the lawyers for the so-called "electrical trust" are about ready to enter a judgment in the United States courts dissolving the combination of which the government complains in a suit now pending. An agreement has been reached which is expected to give to the government a victory without a trial in court. The department of justice has been informed that the electrical pools all over the country against which it was about to proceed, have been dissolved.

country and realize the possibilities for enjoyment of camp life among such pleasing surroundings.

Over Continental Divide.

With his powerful 30.50 cutting automobile the grades to be encountered on the trip through the highlands offer no discouragement to Mr. Inman. The highest point on the course will be reached at Tule Springs, Wyoming, an altitude of over 8,000 feet above sea level. At the continental divide, the next highest point, the elevation is about 7,500 ft.

After passing through the Rockies four other ranges of mountains must be crossed and the wide expanse of alkali deserts in the states of Utah and Nevada must be traversed. In one portion of the trip across this desert the travelers will be unable to get drinking water for a distance of sixty miles. Should anything happen to their conveyance in that region it is easy to imagine the terrible inconvenience to which they would be placed. They would then be able to realize to some extent how severe were the trials which the early travelers underwent in crossing those same

Washington, Aug. 12.—Dr. L. F. Kehler and Dr. W. D. Higelow, assistants to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley in the bureau of chemistry, gave important testimony to the house committee of inquiry regarding the charges against Doctor Wiley, now pending before President Taft.

Dr. L. F. Kehler, chief of the drug division of the bureau of chemistry, who was recommended for reduction in office for his part in hiring Dr. Kehler, the drug expert, testified that he had been subjected to a sharp examination by Mr. McCabe before a special government agent and a stenographer because he owned one share of stock in a drug manufacturing company, a fact which he said he had communicated to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson four years previously.

"Called Down" for Talking.
Dr. Kehler told the committee stories of the "calling down" McCabe gave scientists when they ventured to give information to United States district attorneys.

"Do you mean to say there is a ruling that scientists cannot talk with district attorneys unless they get orders from Solicitor McCabe?" asked Chairman Moss.

"Yes, sir, orders in writing," members of the committee expressed surprise.

Tells of Hiring Rusby.
Dr. W. D. Higelow, assistant chief of the bureau of chemistry, defended the employment of Dr. H. H. Rusby, the New York expert.

He declared that when he and the others were summoned before the personnel board, the expanding was so "called" that he did not even know charges of illegal action had been made against him.

Maintaining the White Way

By a Citizen of Superior, Wis.

In the last few years I have noticed many changes for the better in our city, which have resulted in a great improvement in its appearance.

We have built and improved roads into the country, paved streets, laid new cement sidewalks, repaired many old buildings and erected a great many new ones. New railroads have entered our city, and many other improvements, greater or less in value, have meant in the aggregate a great gain for us.

But the one improvement of which we all can be proud and which has done as much towards "putting Superior on the map" as any other thing is our white way, or system of ornamental street lights.

They have made business better along the streets on which these lights are located. They have helped to increase the value of the property and enabled the property owners to obtain higher rates. They have filled us with that spirit that comes from residing in a metropolitan city, and made more boosters.

RAIN SHOULD AFFECT MARKET QUITE WELL

The Breakup of the Long Dry Spell Should Mean Much to all Fruit and Vegetable Crops in this Locality.

The rains of the last two or three days ought to do a great deal toward increasing the market supplies of fruits and vegetables, and quite possibly should have a good effect upon prices of these commodities. CONFEREES FINALLY AGREE UPON WOOL TARIFF BILL Agreement Placing Raw Material at 29 Cents—Almost Even Backdown for Each Side.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Agreement on the wool bill was reached by the joint conference committee of the two houses of congress and the compromise measure will probably be passed by both branches of congress.

The wool bill, as agreed upon, was so amended as to require that the proposed law shall take effect October 1 instead of January 1, as provided in the senate and house measures. The conferees hope to have the report adopted in both houses and the bill quickly started on its course to the White House, where the president is expected to veto it.

The free list bill was under consideration for about fifteen minutes, but the conflict between the representatives of the two houses was so pronounced that it became necessary to postpone action.

After fixing 20 per cent. ad valorem as the duty on raw wool and changing the wool classification so as to conform to the language of the house bill, the agreement on other features became a matter of detail.

The change of classification has the effect of fixing a flat duty on all wools, and while it reduces the rates on ordinary wools from 35 per cent., as provided in the senate bill, and increases those of the house bill from 20 per cent., it also increases the rates on carpet wools from 10 per cent., as provided in the senate bill, to the 20 per cent. fixed by the conferees.

In most respects the duties on the manufacture of wool were increased over the rates of the house bill and reduced below those of the senate bill, so as to make them correspond with the raw wool rate; but in some instances they were made higher than those of either measure.

Pure Live Scranton Coal

"THE HARD COAL THAT'S ALL COAL"

All coal is not alike because it's black. Many people have an idea that all coal is alike in heating power because all coal is black.

There is a vast difference between the grades and qualities of coal in burning and heating power. Ordinary coal, that is coal in which there is a large percentage of slate and mineral deposits burns slowly, gives out little heat, forms clinkers, and is altogether an inefficient and expensive coal to use.

Coal to give its maximum heating power, to burn down to a flaky, almost impalpable ash, must be free from slate and mineral deposits—it must be all coal.

When you can get coal such as this coal, that has been carefully picked out and screened—and re-screened—then you will get full value for your money.

Such coal will produce heat quickly, and retain heat for a long time.

Such coal will not form large clinkers to clog up the grates and impair the heating power.

Such coal is an actual economy. Scranton Coal is just such a coal.

By RUTH CAMERON.

SEVERAL weeks ago I asked my reader friends to join with me in a discussion on class distinction.

Almost everyone admits there is such a fact as class. But not everyone is satisfied with the vulgar notion that the possession of money is the proper class criterion.

Therefore, I thought it would be interesting to find out what thinking people do make their class criterion; what qualities they consider place a man or woman in the "upper class."

Many interesting letters have come to me on this subject.

I regret that I can only print a few.

"You ask your readers to give their opinions on class distinction. Why not attribute class distinction to nature? The good authority which says all people are born free and equal is true as far as birth goes, but nature soon shows they are far from being equal and while children are more truly democratic than their elders, class distinction is soon in evidence in all our schools without regard to wealth or poverty. So it is evident that nature is the true author of class distinction and the 'upper class' is the class we all look up to whether wealthy or otherwise. Am I not right?"

"To my way of thinking the upper class consists of those who possess that innate refinement which cannot be fully acquired but must be born in one—that refinement which, by its very nature, makes itself felt at all times. The individual who acts the perfect gentleman or lady under all circumstances and to all fellow creatures, no matter what their station in life, belongs to this class. Success or wealth count for nothing unless accompanied by refinement and culture; but the latter could be overlooked if the former were there. Without this refinement the serene to this class is hidden.

"In my country (Germany) are many classes, all fully recognized. However, I believe there is only one class that is recognized as the best all over the world, as it brings forth our best and greatest thinkers and creators, our most intelligent and diligent men and women. We call it the 'educated,' or better, the 'refined (cultured)' middle class. The people of that class are never too rich, often very poor, and yet they will always be recognized, by the 'highest' class as well as the lowest, as 'THE CLASS.'

"In regard to who are the upper class, I would say that the upper class are those who are able to rise in the face of all obstacles from obscurity to fame by their own force of character. Someone has said that 'some people are born great, some have greatness thrust upon them and some become great on their own account.' Then, I would say, according to this philosophy, that it is only those who are able to make themselves great, provided they become so honestly, who are entitled to classify themselves as belonging to the upper class. There have ever been class differences, upper, middle and lower, both in birth, fortune and intellect, and that difference will continue while human nature lasts, the immortal declaration of independence to the contrary notwithstanding."

Draws Up a Set of Resolutions Relative to Hot-Weather Entertaining.

NEVER did believe in visiting in warm weather," said the Candid Girl, "yet that seems to be the time when friends take it into their heads to pour in upon one. It might be selfish, but it seems to me that as a matter of self-protection in the summertime it would be a good thing for all those so situated that people think it pleasant to visit them, to draw up a set of resolutions and send them around, generally to all their acquaintances. It might create a little coolness, but that would not be objectionable when the mercury was at 100. And anyway, one could stand it better than having to entertain a half-dozen or more people on broiling August days."

"Why didn't you think of it sooner," sighed the Suburbanite, who was expecting her cousin and three children by the next train. "What would the resolutions be like?"

"They might read something like this: 'Be it herewith resolved that we, the undersigned, do resolutely set our faces against visiting and being visited in hot weather, for the reasons herewith set forth:'

"That it is a species of cruelty to cause any one to clothe themselves in tight garments, and talk and play the piano and phonograph, morning, noon, and night.

"That it is inhuman to make it necessary to prepare three elaborate meals a day for a large family, when the very sight of a range causes heat prostration.

"That the precipitation of undue quantities of company in warm weather means that the cook will give notice and the laundress leave without notice, and that this ordeal should not be required even of one's bitterest enemy.

"That to ask a woman to plan entertainments for guests when the mercury is playing tag with 98 in the shade is simply inviting her to a prolonged stay at a sanatorium.

"Be it furthermore resolved, that if upon the receipt of a set of these resolutions, the recipients still insist upon visiting, that they be required to make a solemn affidavit that they will not get huffed if the hostess refuses to make herself visible except for an hour in the late afternoon, or possibly in the evening, or if when she does appear, she answers in monosyllables.

"Also, they must agree not to look downcast or melancholy if a luncheon or supper of bread and milk and fruit appears instead of salads and ices. Dieticians have discovered that bread and milk is more nourishing than lobster salad, and certainly it is far more humane to the cook. And the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Cooks has abolished elaborate cookery in hot weather.

"Also, if the hostess does her own work, that each guest will cheerfully perform such portions of the household tasks as shall be apportioned to her.

"That's good," broke in the Suburbanite. "Don't it make you mad to see company sitting out on the porch in white dresses, rocking and reading, and you in the kitchen slaving over a hot range? And you have to smile and say you love it, and how glad you are they came." She mopped her face reminiscently.

"Be it furthermore resolved, then," said the Candid Girl, "that the hostess of guests who insist upon coming, shall not make a martyr of herself, and be sent to a rest cure when the guests have departed, but that she shall appoint one as cook, and another as upstairs maid, and others to other duties, and simply direct and superintend the work herself, so that all shall bear an equal portion, and no one be overtaxed."

"I would have these printed prettily," said the Candid Girl, "and maybe tied with a dashing ribbon, so that they would look pleasant. And I have an idea there would be a lot of signers. It would be a sort of new Declaration of Independence, for we certainly all do groan under the burden of warm weather company."

"There comes the train," said the Suburbanite, mournfully, as a roar was heard in the distance. "And those children of my cousin's are perfect terrors. They are going to stay three weeks, and we won't know an hour's peace while they are here."

"I've been there," said the Candid Girl, sympathetically. "You're in for it, which is not cheering, but true."

CANNING TOMATOES.

(By Request.)

Pick your tomatoes over and pour scalding water over them to loosen the skins. Peel and cut in pieces about the size of a hickory nut. It may be necessary to use a cup or two of water if the juices escape, but otherwise put them in a kettle and boil. Sugar and salt to suit taste. Have your cans or jars ready and when thoroughly cooked through pour in while hot and seal.

A Proud Husband.

The little wife has hit him twice—each time she threw a plate. Although such conduct isn't nice, he says her aim is great.

Never Too Old.

"No, I have lived for 45 years without being married, and I don't believe I'll risk it now. I'm afraid I'm too old for any woman to reform or educate along matrimonial lines."

"Oh, don't get such a foolish idea as that into your head. You just try it. Why, your wife would have you jumping through a hoop inside of 24 hours."

A Natural Fear.

"So that's a new-fashioned yell!" said Mr. Migglesley, when his wife had uncovered her face. "I feared when I saw you coming that it was some kind of a disease."

CARE OF THE SICK.

It is hard under the best conditions and care to be confined to a bed in hot weather, but often much of real suffering could be relieved if people only knew how.

Heat must often be applied to patients, even in hot weather, and when hot water bottles are not obtainable, glass bottles or fruit cans answer very well.

To relieve a patient in hot weather from the heat, hang a wet sheet before an open window or door; the evaporation will reduce the temperature quite noticeably.

Common sense and a quick brain and hand has saved many lives.

Fill hot water bottles with cold water or pieces of ice. An old, leaky bottle may be mended with surgeon's plaster and hold cold water without leaking. Put these bottles around the patient's bed.

An electric fan is a wonderful help in the sick room when it is obtainable. Fresh pure air in a sick room is an absolute necessity. Sunshine is a great germicide.

See the bedding each day. Keep the room free from all dust and odors. A good screen to be used in a sick room to keep off draughts. Is a pair of clothes bars, hosiery or pin sheets on them with safety pins.

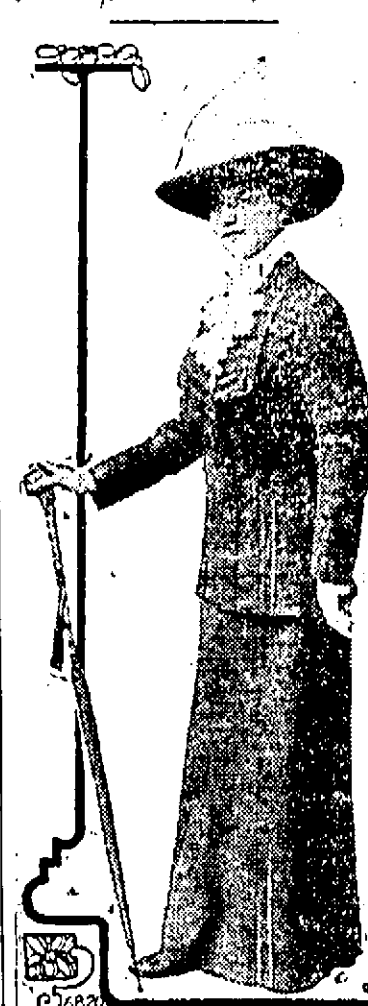

Rest in the morning is more important than having the room in order early. When possible remove the patient to another bed and room while airing the room. It will rest and divert her to see something besides her own four walls.

A sick bed should be high enough to care for a patient without stooping and straining the back. A woven wire spring and a hair mattress made in three pieces so that it may be reversed often and thus wear longer, are considered the best.

Cover the mattress with a cotton pad made of white cloth, and a roll or two of batting stitched with a long stitch on the machine.

Have the sheets plenty long to tuck in well at the bottom and fold over the blanket at the top.

SKIRT TRIMMINGS REPEAT COAT FEATURES.

Only when the coat is built in severely plain matronly style is the skirt of the tailored suit entirely without ornamentation. Often the skirts are quite elaborately trimmed and the trimmings usually repeat some feature of the coat. For example the coat of the dark blue serge pictured suggests a short, wide waistline, and the effect is repeated on the skirt by means of a shaped flounce and braided strappings.

Blood Thicker Than Some Water. "Blood is thicker than water"—though not much thicker—and not so thick as sea water. The water of the ocean contains 35 parts of water material a thousand, while the vital fluid of the human body contains but seven parts a thousand or one-fifth as much.

In the human body each of its myriads of cells is bathed with this seven-tenths per cent. saline fluid—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

MADAME HELIE WILL GIVE ADVICE BY INQUIRY THROUGH THE COLUMNS OF THIS PAPER IF DESIRED. ALL LETTERS REQUIRING A PERSONAL ANSWER MUST ENCLOSE A SELF-ADDRESSED AND STAMPED ENVELOPE. SEND YOUR INQUIRIES TO MADAME HELIE, CARE OF THIS PAPER, AND YOUR LETTER WILL BE FORWARDED TO HER HOME ADDRESS.

Many letters come to my desk each week asking for the formula of a depilatory—or the address where one can be procured already prepared—which will "remove superfluous hair quickly and permanently." A satisfactory reply to these queries is impossible.

Depilatories can be procured which will quickly remove the abnormal growth of hair, but none has been discovered which will, at the same time, prevent the growth from again appearing. It is easy to destroy the surface growth, but to find a remedy which will kill the life in the roots from which the hairs spring is quite another matter.

Electricity, applied by means of a needle which penetrates the pores of the skin and carries the electric current directly to the hair root will destroy the life in the roots. But even electricity will not accomplish this result in once using, and in some cases, even with frequent use, the hairs persist in appearing.

A depilatory should remove all hair from the surface of the skin in one application without irritating the skin. The occasional use of the depilatory will serve to keep down the disfiguring growth, and in many cases its continued use will weaken the growth till it finally ceases to appear. In no case that I have ever heard of has the use of a depilatory permanently removed the hair in one application.

When the hairs on the face are few they can be removed with the tweezers, causing no pain nor inconvenience. In some instances this method has entirely eradicated the growth in a short time; in other cases the hairs continue to appear, but can be easily pulled out when they first begin to show, thus preventing them from becoming an annoyance.

It is a serious mistake to resort to any method for removing hair from the face unless it is actually a disfigurement. On all normal skins there is a downy growth which is called "lanugo," and which gives the skin its soft, velvety appearance. This growth is heavier on some skins than on others, but is seldom sufficiently noticeable to warrant the use of a depilatory. When the down is removed, the skin becomes shiny and hard looking, and the down is apt to come back much heavier and with a stronger growth.

When the hair is prominent enough to really disfigure the face, it is decidedly sensible to use the best obtainable means to remove it. In doing this it is quite necessary to adopt the methods which have been proved safe and reliable, to be patient, to follow directions carefully and not to expect the impossible.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

HILDA G. Y. Preparing the green soap for a shampoo is not a very difficult task. Two tablespoons of the soap in a quart of very hot water will do the trick. The water and soap must be stirred till the soap is dissolved. This requires a little time, but it makes enough for several shampoos, and can be bottled for future use. A couple of ounces of alcohol makes an improvement. Apply as you would any ordinary shampoo, rinsing carefully and thoroughly. This is especially good where there is dandruff of an oily nature.

SUNSHADES: The great objection to the use of lemon juice as a bleach is that the strong acid is very likely to injure the skin. From your description I would think the brown spots due entirely to lack of natural action in the oil glands. Your skin is too dry, and the pores do not eliminate properly, and this alone will cause the complexion to look brown and withered. You need a good massage cream and a mild bleach. I will suggest the best cream for your needs, if you will send me the necessary envelope.

MIDDLE-AGED READER: You will find very satisfactory results from the use of the tonic and shampoo prepared especially for white hair, as they not only greatly improve the growth of the hair, but keep it snowy and beautiful as well. The shampoo is very easily prepared, and the tonic is so refreshing and cleansing that it does not have to be "shampooed out" as you seem to think necessary.

TIBED, CITY: Nothing will ever take the place of a comfortable rest. If you are overdoing every day, you must make some plan to snatch a half hour twice during the day when you can relax entirely and relieve the nervous tension. There is nothing better that I can suggest and it will make a new woman of you in a short time. Your health and happiness are of much greater moment to the family than so much scrubbing and dusting, and you would better plan to preserve yourself, even at the risk of neglecting some of your duties.

QUIZ, CITY: You can make a soap jelly by dissolving about five ounces of the best white soap in a pint of boiling water. Keep warm till the soap is all dissolved and put in a wide mouthed jar to cool. Two tablespoons of this jelly with two raw eggs beaten in it makes a good shampoo. It is needless to say that the eggs should not be mixed with the soap until ready for the shampoo. Thorough rinsing should accompany the shampoo, and you must use what medium is employed for the cleansing.

BURDENED: The external remedy for reducing flesh will answer your needs very nicely and will take off a number of inches from your waist lines, and within a reasonable time. It is perfectly safe to use and you are welcome to the address where it can be procured.

THE VAMPIRE.
Mrs. Evelyn Romadka.

Chicago, Ill.—The life history of Mrs. Evelyn Romadka reads like the most thrilling chapters of a popular novel and her experiences would put to shame the flights of imagination of the author.

From the slums to the mansion, from the farm to the jail, Mrs. Romadka knows the world and has lived the life as have few other women of modern times.

The last episode with which her name was connected occurred as the climax to a stunning party to which she was invited to take part. When the other guests came to, at about 4 a. m., one was found in a hallway dazed from the effect of some drug and the other woman of the party found herself in her hotel room, having been helped there by a bell-boy. All were minus jewelry, money and valuables.

Mrs. Romadka was formerly the wife of Charles J. Romadka, millionaire trunk manufacturer of Milwaukee. She spent some time in Joliet prison, and after her release returned to a small Michigan farm where she lived a quiet life for a short time. Tiring of this she went to Chicago under an assumed name, and there soon had a following of millionaire men whom she "bled" relentlessly.

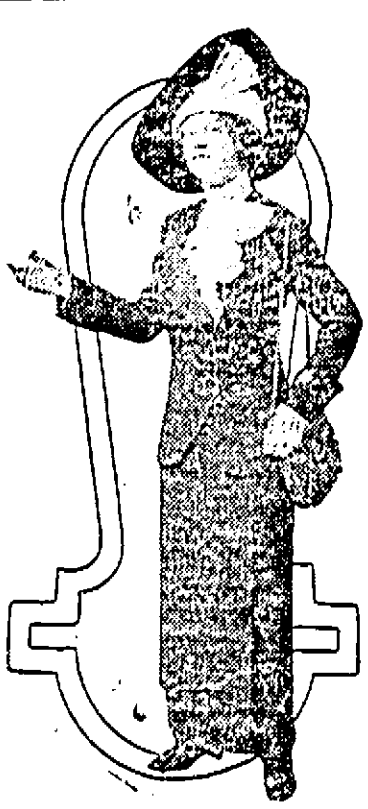

She made her escape immediately after the episode and is now being sought by detectives of all the prominent cities.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

A GOOD DIET IN CASE OF STOMACH IRRITATION.

Bananas (thoroughly ripe) and cream is a good combination and a staple food. The banana contains ample heating and force food in the form of easily digested sugar; the cream contains fat and a little easily assimilated albumen, deficient in the banana. This food is easily digested and relished by almost everyone. It is particularly good for supper. The next appropriate addition would be toast or stale white bread, but this adds no additional element of nutrition, and the invalid should take only the banana and cream. A little olive oil might be added. In stomach and intestinal irritation this would be a good diet and could be continued indefinitely. It is appropriate for the aged.

A SKIRT BUILT TO IMITATE A SLASHED EFFECT.

Though Paris is daff over slashed skirts, American women are a bit too conservative to adopt such a sensational style and content themselves with skirts designed to suggest the slashed effect though built in the regulation way. The skirt of this brown worsted suit has a graceful tunic slashed at one side over a petticoat of brown bengaline silk, the contrasting underskirt being a modish now and style feature. On the coat collar and cuffs are touches of the new East Indian embroidery in vivid yet rich colors.

DR. BEATON WRITES TO FRIENDS HERE

IN LETTER TO GAZETTE, DESCRIBES BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY IN WHICH HE IS SPENDING VACATION.

TELLS OF LUCK FISHING

Has Fallen in With Most Congenial and Delightful Companions, Who Are Making His Visit Very Pleasant.

When Dr. David Beaton left a short time ago on his vacation fishing trip in the northern part of the state, he was assured that the readers of the Gazette would be glad to hear of his experiences there, and accordingly agreed to send a letter telling of the time he was having. Dr. Beaton has kept his promise faithfully, and his many friends will be interested in reading about his fisherman's luck.

"In a moment of patriotic sentiment having become a loyal hatter of late, I resolved to spend my vacation this year among the lakes of northern Wisconsin, so here I am in the Eagle River region. I had some pleasant days in Chicago, a guest at several golf clubs, and saw how beautiful and spacious, by comparison, are our own Wisconsin lakes. But no words are sufficiently warm to express the very great cordiality of the brethren of the royal and ancient game of golf, when entertaining visiting brethren. I am looking forward on my return to visit some others.

"This Vilas County is a natural reservoir, a perfect archipelago of lakes and rivers and ought to be set aside by the state as a National or State Park. The air is pure, the water is the whole of nature conducive to sleep and rest. I have been fortunate in my company and I had to come and depend on Providence for any kind of companionship that might happen along. The brand sent was Episcopal, regarding from an ecclesiastical point of view, and of a very high grade. In the person of the very Reverend Dean De Witt of the Western Theological Seminary, a most brotherly learned and hospitable fellow, in the fine old meaning of that term as equal and comrade. For a week we have been in the same house, the same boat, getting the same soaking in the rain, and finding the same fisherman's luck—mostly bad—on the waters. And one thing I have learned, namely, that no religious differences exist when one goes fishing, so that, without irreverence be it predicted, heaven will be pretty much like going fishing. I may also add in all truthfulness that so far the fish themselves have manifested a preference for the Congressional landing net.

"Sunday I had also the pleasure of meeting in morning prayers in the household of Bishop Anderson of Chicago, and a more hospitable home or more generous blessing one might go anywhere to find, so if I come back to Wisconsin a little stiffened up in my ecclesiastical backbone, you will know how important are the associations of like for good or—well let every man add his own word—some I know is only the former in this case. But the fishing? Did I catch anything? Yes! I did. Was it a 40-lb. muskellunge? No it was a 5-lb. pickerel. I am ashamed to tell it but that is the disadvantage of being a fisherman, he always tells the truth. But we did better yesterday. We went over to Sand Lake, the day was fine, the wind was in the west and we got some fine picks. But it was the camp ashore at dinner time, the frying fish, the sun and shade beneath the pine trees, the cool company and the farawayness from all that worries and annoyances—no fashion, no family, no fashion, nor finance, just nature's wants and the sweet reasonableness of the simple life.

"I am going a little farther into the wilderness tomorrow to the Bruce River after trout, and will have the pleasure of a visit to the H. and P. club camp on Sand Lake by the kind favor of our townsmen Mr. Jackman. The weather has been wet and cool, with the exception of a few days, and the prospect for the speckled beauties is not good yet. As far as it has gone, however, the season has been pleasant and the Long Lake Lodge is a place of rest and comfort.

Yours far from the maddening crowd,
DAVID BEATON."

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

(By H. L. RANN.)

After a cow contracts the habit of throwing a fit or two every time her food backs up into the second stomach, the quicker you dump her in the cannery the better.

We have seen a lot of distressing sights on the farm, but if there is anything worse than an epileptic helper we don't know what it is. A cow afflicted with this ailment never has to take a scolding. She can throw the butter can a prize bowler with a bun on. A prominent farmer of Peoria, Illinois, fell asleep the other evening while milking a frail young helper with weak lungs, and when the next attack came she laid down on his face and made it look like a cream pie. Some cows develop great irritability when harboring an adult fil. Many a kind husband and father has had his eyes bulge out a few inches by a nasty swat from the tail of a helper which was trying to sidetrack a fit, while others have been kicked into a cheerful resemblance to a June squall. Don't waste any stock food or other affectionate tokens of esteem upon an epileptic helper. Your foot might slip, and the neighbors would be asking how you looked when you were laid out.

If you have a hired girl who is so bald that she has to wear a rat, insist on with hooks and eyes. Nothing is that shaggy to her poll or rivet it habit to put a weak stomach on the fitted quicker than to run against a section of blonde switch in the gray bowl. A friend of ours came down to dinner the other day, and when the girl passed the consommé she thoughtlessly deposited a shiny new rat in the soup, taking the edge off his appetite by quite a majority. False hair is all right on gala occasions, such as a meeting of the foreign missionary society or the Larkin club, but the woman who bobs over a hot skillet with a headful of borrowed curls runs the chance of making the whole neighborhood seasick with the fumes of burned hair.

HOME STRUCK BY LIGHTNING BOLT

Bolt Struck Chimney of Residence of John McDonough, Forest Park Boulevard and Rained Havoc in Kitchen.

Lightning struck the home of John A. McDonough, 227 Forest Park Boulevard, about 12:15 o'clock this morning, raising havoc in the kitchen of the home and causing considerable damage. The bolt hit a chimney, knocking off the top and tearing off one corner, then ran along the roof to the northwest corner of the house. It followed the eaves trough to the southeast corner and then ran down the main conduit into the kitchen, fastening on the conduit and bending it out of shape. In the kitchen it tore off plaster and damaged the sink. The watersealing near the sink was torn off and thrown across the room. The chimney of a kerosene lamp in the room was knocked off and the bolt passed close to a can of kerosene but left it untouched. A queer feat was played with a basin of apples which had been placed on a chair. The bolt evidently passed along the under side of the shelf and tore a hole through the shelf and the basin, throwing out the apples. Some of the fruit was split by the shot and two or three were burned. The end of a stick of wood was burned off and charred. In the room where Mr. McDonough and his son were sleeping they pieces of plaster were knocked from the ceiling and in one of the other rooms some was blown from the chimney through a stove pipe hole into the room. The extent of the damage is not known.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, Aug. 12, 1871.—
St. Louis Aug. 12.—D. W. Soutor, United States express messenger, whose wagon was robbed here recently, and who is under arrest for being implicated in the robbery, confessed to being concerned in it. He told two or three different stories about being approached by a man whose name he conceals and who urged him to take part in the robbery. This he related but the man's appeal was so insistent and continual that he finally yielded under an influence that he could not resist and entered into the robbery. J. Scammon and Thomas Grady, who are also under arrest, know nothing of the affair. The party who planned the robbery and who is supposed to have the money is known to the police but for reasons deemed sufficient to themselves they have not yet arrested him although he is known to be in the city.

WHAT SHE WANTED.

The Evangelist—My mission in life is to save young men.
Old Girl on Back Bench—Then save a nice looking one for me, please.

No Wonder.
Mrs. Hays—She is simply mad on the subject of germs, and sterilizes or filters everything in the house.
"How does she get along with her family?"
"Oh, even her relations are strained."

Carrying It Too Far.
"I saw Packham today," remarked Nugget, "and he was very drunk."
"Well, there's some excuse for him," replied Mrs. Nugget. "He lost his wife last week."
"I know, but a man should be able to celebrate without making a bog of himself."—Catholic Standard and Times.

At His Subscriptions.
She—And you are a strict vegetarian?
He—Oh, yes.
What made you a vegetarian?
Oh, I've been running a country newspaper for twenty-five years!—Yonkers Statesman.

WILLIE WISE.

Rough on Algy.
"Ever notice how far apart Algy's ears are?"
"Yes, and I've noticed that he seems to have little or nothing to fill the space between them."

Art.
"No," said the theatrical manager, "I don't believe I wish to engage you for next season."
"Why not?" the beautiful actress inquired. "You told me at the close of last season that my work had been all that you could desire."
"Oh, your work is all right. You're a fine artist, but you never do anything to cause the newspapers to give you any attention."
"Never mind. I have a sensation almost ready to be sprung. A friend of mine has consented to let me wave him from drowning at one of the fashionable watering places."
"Good. Here's a contract. When you pull off the stunt I will raise your salary $100 a week."

Either Way.
"Here's a wild demand that people who persist in indulging in music at night when the neighborhood objects ought to be sent to jail. Did you ever hear of such absurdity?"
"I must say that I think people who can't sing and will sing, ought some way to be shut up."

A Guess.
"Why is the lion called the king of beasts?"
"I don't know," replied the naturalist, "unless he acquired the title years ago when large whiskers were supposed to imply an especial fitness for governmental authority."

A Big Head.
A young man in the country wrote to his city cousin: "I've grown a cabbage head six feet in circumference."
"Who is your father?" wrote back the city youth.—Tit-Bits.

WANTED TO LIVE.

Dr. Krenon—You haven't taken the medicine I left for you. Such things make me lose my patience.
The Patient—I was afraid if I took it you would lose another of your patients.

A BASEMENT KITCHEN, TOO.

The Mistress—Mary Ann, how the furnace goes out?
The New Cook—If it has, mum, it must have gone out through the cellar windy, cos it ain't come through here, mum.

Could Stand It Better.
"You should have learned to cook before we were married."
"I don't see why. You are younger and stronger in every way than papa is."

Their Living.
"Isn't it a ridiculous expression to talk of enjoying poor health? Did you ever hear of anybody who really does enjoy poor health?"
"Certainly. Don't the doctors?"
